

Communication with Division Membership

Given the proliferation of electronic communications, the organization does not reimburse the cost of printing and mailing division newsletters. Directors are encouraged to communicate with the members through the use of e-mail, Division web pages, etc. The “ODV” section of the ARRL website provides an easy way for a Director to send an e-mail to every member in the division who has opted to receive them.